Britain May Carry Antarctic Dispute to United Nations

Chile Expedition Goes on With Plans to Claim Disputed Territory

(By The Associated Press)
Santiago, Chile, Feb. 18.—Chile's president moved to establish a military base in disputed Antarctic territory today after invoking the western hemisphere defense pact to bolster his nation's claims. While Britain hinted an appeal to the United Nations and Australia weighed sending a warship to the Falklands, Chilean President Gabriel Gonzalez Videla pushed farther south on his spectacular expedition to set up the base on what Chile calls Bernardo O'Higginsland.

The site is on part of the territory known as Grahamland, which is claimed by Britain. It lies astride the Antarctic circle. Dispatches to the Santiago newspaper Mercurio from the president's ship, the transport Presidente Pinto, quoted Gen. Ramon Canas Montalva, Chilean army chief of staff, as saying the president's action is a step toward "building up Chile as a South Pacific power."

Send Cruiser Nigeria

The British have protested both Chilean and Argentine activities in the Antarctic and have announced they will support British Governor Miles Clifford of the Falklands in these issues. The British insist the Falkland administration covers Grahamland, Greenwich and other islands. The British have sent the 8,000-ton cruiser Nigeria into the Antarctic to "show the flag."

The Chilean president landed at Greenwich island yesterday. Addressing Chilean troops there, he declared that any attempt by a foreign power to seize territory claimed by Chile in the Antarctic will be considered an "aggression against all the nations of the Americas."

Britain claims territory both east and west of the 70th parallel, which Argentina and Chile consider their boundary below the South

Rent Control Put in Must Category

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Congress stamped "rush" today on legislation to keep rent control alive.

The present rent law dies a week from Sunday. Senate Republicans agreed at a policy meeting to press for a quick vote on extending the law in modified form for no less than a year.

But Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) said it is "improbable" that a long-term continuation can clear all hurdles by the February 29 deadline.

Wolcott is chairman of the house banking committee which handles rent control matters. He told reporters a 30-day stopgap extension probably will be voted first.

That would give congress more time to argue over all the changes various members want in the new law.

The senate is due to take up a 14-month extension bill on Friday. Wolcott said the house may "take a look" at the senate bill next week.

Wolcott's committee has approved a bill to extend the present law for 30 days. It told the "full house it wants time to see what the drop in commodity prices might do to the rent question, if anything."

Find Woman Dead Amid Junk, Rats

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A 52-year-old woman recluse, the once beautiful daughter of a wealthy patent attorney, was found dead last night in her debris-filled, rat-infested Manhattan apartment.

The body of Mary Warner Fowler, who neighbors said rarely left her quarters in the last 20 years, was lying on the bathroom floor. Police, summoned to investigate an odor in the building, said she had been dead at least a week.

Detectives said such a weird collection of junk had not been discovered in New York since a year ago when they broke into the upper Fifth avenue home of Homer and Langley Collyer to find both men dead.

Narrow Passageways

The only space through which a person could walk in the $150 a month apartment was a passageway leading to the woman's bedroom and another leading to the bathroom.

Detectives said rats scurried through the debris when they entered.

Wallace All Smiles as His Candidate Triumphs

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Henry Wallace, all smiles after his candidate won a special Bronx congressional election, dug deeper into Florida politics today.

After a speech here last night Wallace today conferred with political supporters in St. Petersburg and Miami tomorrow night.

The third party candidate said that he was pleasantly surprised at the election of Leo Isacson in the Bronx and amazed at the margin of the Isacson victory.

No Complaint

London, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip escaped unscathed today when their limousine and a taxi bumped near Buckingham Palace.

Philip was driving today from Kensington palace to the Admiralty, where he has a desk job. His car and the hearse-presumptive, was to be dropped off at the palace.

Like a common motorist, Philip told a traffic policeman at the congested Hyde Park corner that his car and the taxicab "just bumped and I'm sorry it happened." Court sources said Philip was driving carefully.

The cabbie apologized upon recognizing the royal couple. He said the few dents in his fenders were nothing. The officers waved everybody on, since there was no injury. All parties said there would be no complaint.

Agriculture Secretary Anderson Is on Spot and He Faces Another

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson is hunting an answer to this grain market puzzle:

When should he start buying wheat again for shipment abroad? His department got out of the market quickly week before last when prices started tumbling.

Anderson instructed government buyers to spurn all offers until prices "stabilized."

They haven't done that yet. And the department must start buying again soon. It needs at least 75,000,000 more bushels by June 30 to meet the government's minimum export goal of 450,000,000 bushels this crop year.

President Truman would like to ship 500,000,000 bushels.

What is bothering Anderson is the possibility that whatever he does will cause a holler.

Usually, when the government buys, prices go up. When it drops

Increased Licenses Considered at City Council's Meeting

Commissioners Seeking Means To Up City's Revenues in 1948

Mayor J. Fred Hofmann revealed last night that the city council hopes to give city employees an eight to 10 per cent pay boost this year as the council deliberated for more than two hours on ways of meeting a contemplated 1948 budget of approximately $204,000.

The projected salary increases would mean an added $7,000 to $7,500 in expenses to the city, he said.

Hofmann said the city could look for approximately $124,000 in income for the year from real estate taxes and other sources. He said this left the city approximately $35,000 short of the estimated needs for the year, which led to the council's lengthy study of licenses to determine where increases would be warranted.

The city will get, at least, $99,000 in real estate taxes this year, he predicted, which usually provides approximately 75 per cent of the city's income. The reduction from this source is due to new tax bills passed recently by the state legislature.

Requests in Detail

Hofmann reported in detail the appropriation requests of each of

Halt New Permits For Exporting Oil

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The commerce department has called a 48-hour halt on new permits to export gasoline and fuel oil.

Meanwhile it will try to work out another cut in foreign quotas to save scarce oil for use at home.

The export quota for the first quarter of 1948 already has been scaled down twice—from 17,000,000 barrels to $11,850,000 to 9,650,000.

A commerce department official said reports from U. S. embassies indicate foreign nations can stand still another slash.

The United States uses, on the average, about 5,300,000 barrels a day.

The stop order will not affect oil or gasoline ready for loading or already at sea. When it is lifted Friday morning, shipments still will be banned from east coast ports. The east coast embargo was put into effect a week ago because that is the worst shortage area.

Bill Not Itemized

Asked by Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) what the bill was for, Mrs. Campagna replied: "I was to help my husband get his parole."

She said the bill, which was not itemized, was paid last December.

Dillon, who had been St. Louis campaign manager for Truman when he was a candidate for the senate, testified before the subcommittee last fall that he had helped the four men get out of prison, but said he had not received any fee.

Mrs. Campagna, in telling about the $10,000 fee she said she paid to Dillon, said she never had retained him directly. She said she asked a friend, a member of the Missouri legislature, to ask Dillon what he could do about getting a parole for her husband.

The three others paroled with Campagna are Philip D'Andrea, Paul (The Waiter) Ricca, and Charles (Cherry Nose) Cioe, all formerly associated with the old Capone gang.

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Grain prices fell again today at Chicago and most other commodities followed suit.

Wheat prices were as much as 4 1/2 cents a bushel below yesterday's close. Corn and oats dropped lesser amounts but soybeans ran contrary to the trend and pushed ahead as much as 2 1/2 cents.

An accumulation of selling orders pushed cotton down $2 a bale from yesterday's close at New York. When selling let up, however, the price rebounded about $1 a bale from the low and the market turned quiet.

Cattle prices were higher at Chicago. Sheep were down. Hogs ranged steady to about 25 cent a hundred pounds below yesterday.

Stocks were uneven on the New York Exchange. Changes were narrow and the market was quiet.

Cocoa and hides followed the downward trend in the grains.

Wife Says Thug's Parole Cost $10,000

Chicago, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Charlotte Campagna, wife of a former Capone gangster, says she paid $10,000 to Attorney Paul Dillon of St. Louis, who once was one of President Truman's campaign managers, to help her obtain her husband's parole from federal prison.

Her husband, Louis (Little New York) Campagna and three other Capone hoodlums, were paroled last August after serving one-third of their 10-year sentences. They were convicted of extorting more than $1,000,000 from the movie industry.

Mrs. Campagna, testifying yesterday before a congressional subcommittee investigating the paroles of the four, said Dillon presented her with a bill for $10,000 after he appeared before the group last fall.

Asked by Chairman Hoffman (R-Mich) what the bill was for, Mrs. Campagna replied: "I was to help my husband get his parole."

She said the bill, which was not itemized, was paid last December.

Dillon, who had been St. Louis campaign manager for Truman when he was a candidate for the senate, testified before the subcommittee last fall that he had helped the four men get out of prison, but said he had not received any fee.

Scattered Spots in 4 States Blanketed by Fog Early Today

Chicago, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Heavy fog blanketed scattered spots in a four-state area early today.

The fog was spotted through northern Illinois and Indiana, and southern Wisconsin and Michigan. The Chicago weather bureau said the fog—not unusual for this season—cut visibility to about one quarter to one half mile in many areas. Minor automobile accidents were numerous, northern Illinois state police stations reported.

The Chicago municipal airport said visibility as reduced to about a quarter of a mile and planes were not permitted to land temporarily. It had fog reports also from Madison and Lone Rock Wis., Battle Creek and Jackson, Mich.; South Bend, Ind.; Joliet and Rockford, Ill. There was slight fog at Moline, but none at Burlington, Ia., or further south.

Are Quickly Dispersed

The weather bureau said such fogs are common at this time of year, and are dispersed quickly when the sun rises. They are caused by heavy moisture going into the air during the day and condensing as the air cools at night.

Rockford sources reported the worst fog in many years, with taxi-cabs and other vehicles not running. Trains were running late in that area.

Freeport reported a "rolling fog" which did not hit the downtown district but was heavy in outlying areas. Motorists were forced to pull off the road and stop on highways.

Ottawa reported a heavy early fog which was dispelled by the sun. State police district headquarters at Elgin said the fog was general along the Fox river valley.

In downtown Chicago, and in northern suburbs and Waukegan, no early fog was reported, however.

Later Accident

Later fourteen cars piled up at a railroad crossing near suburban Blue Island in heavy fog after one automobile skidded into the path of a train. There were no major injuries.

State police at Blue Island said a car driven by Ralph Anderson, 43, of Elmhurst, was severely damaged by an Indiana Harbor Belt Line freight train. Anderson and an unidentified passenger were unhurt, however.

The other 13 cars piled up at the wreck scene. Several of them were badly damaged.

Incubator Chicks Are Not Doing So Well Now

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—This year's incubator chicks have reason to wish for the old-fashioned sitting hen.

The agriculture department reported today that the modern, mechanical "mothers" aren't doing so well. The fuel oil shortage, you know.

That, coupled with a drop in demand, caused commercial chick output in January to drop nine per cent below that of January, 1947, the department said.

Verdicts Returned Against Harrison Reversed by Judge

Circuit Court Jury's Findings in Damage Cases Set Aside

Judge George C. Dixon, in a written order, yesterday set aside two jury verdicts against J. E. Harrison totaling approximately $7,643, holding that Harrison was "not the proximate cause of the injury" which caused the death of one person and injuries to three others in an auto accident here in May, 1945.

Judge Dixon's order reversed a jury verdict awarding $5,000 damages to Everett H. Donoho, administrator of the estate of Shirley Mae Donoho, who was killed in the crash of cars driven by Harrison and Gerald Reynolds on Lowell Park road, and also set aside a verdict awarding Jack Wolaver $1,943.45, Shirley Snader Cannon $500 and Robert Malach $200.

Evidence in the case included testimony that Harrison was driving at a high rate of speed just before the accident, and also that Reynolds, driver of the car in which Miss Donoho and the others injured in the crash were riding, was on the wrong side of the road at the time.

Held Speed Not Cause

Judge Dixon, in setting aside the verdicts, held that Harrison alleged speed at the time of the accident was not the proximate cause of the accident.

"It is fundamental," he said, "that if the negligence of the party sought to be charged does nothing more than furnish a condition by which the injury is made possible, and that condition causes an injury by the subsequent independent act of a third person, the creation of the condition is not the proximate cause of the injury."

Judge Dixon's ruling came after he had taken under advisement a motion made last week by Harrison's attorney, R. L. Bracken, that the verdicts be set aside, on the ground his speed was not the proximate cause.

In the same order granted a motion by the plaintiffs for a new trial against Gerald Reynolds, who was held not guilty in the

Woman Seized in Deportation Move

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The justice department today announced the arrest for deportation of Beatrice Johnson, described as promotion manager for the New Masses, New York weekly publication.

The department said Mrs. Johnson had long been active in the communist party in this country, and that she lacked citizenship.

She was taken into custody under the immigration laws providing for the exclusion of aliens who belong to groups advocating the violent overthrow of the United States government.

Mrs. Johnson is one of a score of alleged alien communists who have been seized recently for deportation.

The department said that Mrs. Johnson is 45 years old and a native of Poland.

Department records showed she came to the United States in April, 1912, and applied for naturalization in 1943. She was listed as having been a secretary of various branches of the communist party, a teacher at the Chicago Workers' school and an educational director for the communist party in Illinois at various times between 1930 and 1939.

Georgia High School Cage Coach Packs Pistol in Pocket for K. K. K.

Rossville, Ga., Feb. 18.—(AP)—An ex-Marine, who said he had been threatened by the Ku Klux Klan, packed a pistol in his pocket last night and went about his business as a high school coach.

The most exciting thing that happened was the defeat of Coach Walter Bowland's Lakeview, Ga., basketball team by Rossville high, 75-29.

Even so just about everybody in this small town turned out for the game at the school gym just in case the Klan carried out its reported threat to tar and feather Bowland.

Had the Klan tried anything, said Bowland, seven or eight of his friends, including policemen, were hanging around outside ready to "start throwing lead—if necessary."

Oregon Youth to State Farm; His Suicide Try Fails

Joseph Padulla, 20, began serving a one-year sentence at the Vandallia state farm yesterday after a suicide attempt in his Oregon jail cell was thwarted by Sheriff Joseph Maas Monday night.

Padulla was sentenced to Vandallia farm by Ogle county Judge Philip H. Nye yesterday after he pleaded guilty to charges of petty larceny.

Maas found the youth hanging from an upper bunk in his cell, a piece of wire around his neck Monday night after a suicide note had been discovered in a dish in which Padulla had been served his evening meal. The prisoner was revived within 15 minutes by the sheriff and two physicians.

The youth said he "found" the wire in his cell. Maas was unable to account for its presence there.

No Good to Anybody

His suicide note complained that he was "no good to anybody and might as well end it all." Another note discovered in his cell thanked the sheriff for his kindness, and another expressed appreciation to Mrs. Richard Lewis, Oregon.

The youth escaped from Maas last Thursday afternoon, shortly after his arrest when he walked across ice-covered Rock river after Maas had sent him out to an island in the stream to bring in loot stored there.

He was recaptured more than 10 hours later at the Lewis home after being discovered asleep at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newberry, East River road, here.

Padulla was charged with burglarizing the homes of Anthony Chappalo and J. W. Walker.

LaPorte Fire Claims Its 4th Victim Today

LaPorte, Ind., Feb. 18.—(AP)—A fourth victim of a downtown apartment fire died today.

He was Gerald Wolfenbarger, 8, burned yesterday in a fire which killed three others living in a third floor apartment.

The others were Mrs. Velma G. Masterson, 26, her three-year-old daughter, Bonnie Lou, and Phyllis Wolfenbarger, 13.

Kerosene which Mrs. Masterson was throwing on a fire exploded. Firemen confined the flames to the third floor.

Gives Birth to Fourth Set of Twins in 5 Years

Wareham, Mass., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Joseph A. Lopes, 26-year-old wife of a cranberry bog worker, has given birth to her fourth set of twins in five years.

The latest—a girl weighing seven pounds and a boy of six pounds, five ounces—were born two days ago at Tobey hospital. Mother and babies were reported doing well.

The Lopes have two other children—Jeanette, 9, and Phyllis, 7.

Lonely

Chicago, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Harry Carlson wanted to get a group of firemen to come and chat with him. So he gave them a ring—on a fire alarm box.

He pulled the alarm, they said after visiting several taverns, because he was lonely for his firemen friends.

"I know a lot of firemen and I was lonely," Carlson said. "This was the best way to get a bunch of them together at once."

Firemen who answered the alarm denied knowing Carlson. He was detained by police

Astronomers Learn Many New Facts in Their Study of Mars

Observations Being Made in Texas Expected to Add More Data

McDonald Observatory, Fort Davis, Tex., Feb. 18—(AP)—The green spots on Mars may be some lower form of plant life.

But they are not plants like the earth's trees and grass.

Astronomers at McDonald observatory last night failed to give a flat answer to the intriguing question of whether there is life on Mars but Dr. Gerhard P. Kuiper, director of the observatory, listed several known factors for and against the possibility.

For:

1. There is some water.
2. The temperatures are not too cold.

Against:

So far, it appears the deadly ultra violet rays of the sun would kill any form of plant growth.

He said he hoped by March 1 he could be more definite on some phases of the immediate study which started in October and which is now one-half complete.

The observations have been aided by use of a new infra-red spectrometer which was not available until the end of the war.

Comparisons Are Made

The conclusion that the green spots were neither seed plants nor ferns—the two highest forms of plant life—was reached by comparing infra-red photographs of such earth plants with those of the verdant areas of Mars Dr. Kuiper explained.

The discovery made this week at McDonald that there is practically no sulphur dioxide in the atmosphere of Mars was listed as a factor against the possibility of plant life.

Dr. Kuiper explained that the deadly ultra violet rays of the sun are filtered out on the earth by ozone. But Mars has no ozone. Sulphur dioxide could act as a similar filter but Mars has none.

"It would have been nice if we had found it but we didn't," he said.

Infra red studies of the Polar caps on Mars indicate thus far that they are water and not dry ice. Dr. Kuiper emphasized that was a conditional statement.

Water Is Important

"The matter is important because some quantity of water must be present to permit plant growth," Dr. Kuiper said.

Another factor favoring a primitive form of plant life on Mars is the knowledge that temperatures, while "desperately cold," are not prohibitive to such life.

The Mars studies will continue at top peak for the next two weeks. Mars came within 63,000,000 miles of the earth last night. That was the closest it will be for another two years. In 1956 it will swing within 30,000,000 miles.

Dr. Kuiper earlier had said he hoped for the final answer to the question of life on Mars might be reached immediately. Last night he told newsmen and University of Texas officials there was such a mass of data to be considered that "it must be properly worked out."

He operated the 82-inch telescope, weighing approximately 60 tons, with fingertip controls, giving visitors closeups of the moon and Saturn, complete with rings.

The McDonald observatory is owned by the University of Texas and staffed by the University of Chicago.

Admits Labor Leaders Have Too Much Power

Washington, Feb. 18—(AP)—A CIO official said today "there is considerable truth" in the statement that "labor leaders are too powerful and rank and file workers too subservient."

"There is similar truth in the assertion that political bosses likewise, often have too much power," Kermit Eby, the CIO's research and education director, told a senate labor subcommittee. He added:

"The remedy, furthermore, in both cases is the same—an educated membership or electorate stimulated to take their rightful part in the organizations of which they are members."

Defense Officials To Give Advice to Writers

Washington Feb 18—(AP)—A plan to give advice to writers on whether their articles would harm national security will be dismissed early in March at the Pentagon. Secretary of Defense Forrestal will call in representatives of newspaper, magazine and radio associations.

Acceptance of such advice would be voluntary.

HOLLYWOOD

BY RDB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP)—Marlene Dietrich, a gal who gets around, comes up with a list of the 10 most fascinating men she knows. This was no small chore for Marlene who has known a lot of fascinating men. I mentioned the list to her on the "A Foreign Affair" set, suggesting "the 10 most fascinating Americans". She pondered long and hard.

"How about some of the noted generals?" I suggested.

"Army men are very dull," she answered, "except during a war". I mentioned a few Hollywood actors and got nothing but a scowl.

"Maybe you could include men you would like to meet."

"I don't want to meet anybody," she answered.

Marlene took the matter under advisement and five days later submitted a list broadened to include men of other nationalities. Two factors might be pointed out. 1, only three are native Americans. 2, only one is an actor. Here's her list in order of fascination:

Eric Maria Remarque, novelist.

Alexander Kirk, former U. S. ambassador to Italy, now a Florissant, Colo., rancher.

Igor Stravinsky, composer.

Ernest Hemingway, author.

Roberto Rossellini, Italian film director of "Open City" and other films.

Pablo Picasso, artist.

Erle Stanley Gardner, mystery writer.

Salvatore Dali, artist.

Noel Coward, theatrical jack-of-all-trades.

Arturo Toscanini, conductor.

Random comments on the academy nominations surprises the John Garfield and Susan Hayward nominations. 20th-Fox sank $5,000,000 apiece in "Forever Amber" and "Captain From Castile" which got no mentions except in musical scoring. Its "Miracle on 34th St." costing around a million was named one of the five best pictures.

Hollywood sights and sounds most of the "Three Musketeers," cast complaining about their roles. Garry Moore having a skywriting plane deliver a valentine to his wife individualist Roy Rogers in his custom-tailored cowboy suit rubbing shoulders with tuxedoed stars at a premiere.

William Powell lugging a mermaid (a dummy) around the "Peabody" set. Keenan Wynn pushing a stranger's stalled car outside a Hollywood theater. Joan Bennett, one of the few stars who applies her own makeup, dabbing on greasepaint on the "Hollow Triumph" set.

In India, when a cow grows too old to be useful, she is placed in a "home for old cows."

Says One Out of Four Taken by Japs Killed or Fatally Attacked

Tokyo, Feb. 18—(AP)—One of every four occidentals captured by the Japanese during the war was killed or died of mistreatment, Lt. Col. T. F. Mornane of Australia told the international crimes tribunal today.

Mornane, summing up casualty figures for the prosecution in the war crimes case against former Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 other war leaders, told the court:

The Japanese captured 132,134 American, British and Dutch nationals and 35,756 died or were killed.

De Valera Appears To Be Through as Premier

Dublin, Feb. 18—(AP)—Eamon De Valera, the head of Eire's government since 1932, appeared to be through today, as parliament met to elect a prime minister.

John A. Costello, former attorney general and a leader in the Fine Gael (United Irish) party, is a heavy favorite to be the new prime minister. The 56-year-old Dublin attorney is the choice of a five-party anti-De Valera coalition.

Fianna Fail 14 six votes short of the necessary 74-seat Dail (parliament) majority, having lost its margin in the Feb. 4 general elections.

24 Known Dead in French Rail Wreck

Lille, France, Feb. 18—(AP)—Station Master Albert Dufour of Thumeries was jailed today on charges of involuntary manslaughter in connection with a train wreck last night which police said cost at least 24 lives.

The accident, caused when a passenger train collided with a freight train, occurred near Thumeries, 15 miles from here, just after the passenger train took aboard a number of factory workers there.

Observations

By
DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A week ago your columnist expressed the view that Russia already had to all intents annexed the northern half of Korea—and we now can say: "I told you so."

A high American official of the southern zone, which is occupied by U. S. forces, says a Russian puppet government has been established in the north. The nature of this regime is made clear in a radio broadcast from Soviet occupation headquarters. This announces creation of a "North Korean Peoples Army," and a constitution which would establish "the Democratic Peoples Republic of Korea."

Let there be any doubt about the complexion of this government, its flag is said to have a red star in the center, with crossed hammers above and crossed sickles below. That's Bolshevism with all the red trimmings.

Now of course there hasn't been any formal annexation. However, the fact remains that Moscow has brought northern Korea under its absolute domination just as has happened to the small countries of eastern Europe.

The establishment of this communist government is purely a unilateral action by Russia. It has been done in defiance of the Moscow agreement among the allies for a unified Korea. It has been in defiance of the United Nations, which recently sent a commission to Korea to hold elections in both zones and establish a government for the whole country. The Russians wouldn't even permit the commission to visit the north, which long has been sealed off by the Reds.

The American source in southern Korea says there is ample information that an army estimated at 200,000 North Koreans has been equipped with Russian materials, including tanks and light planes. He adds that creation of the puppet government has revived speculation among American Army officers that the Russians may suddenly withdraw their occupation troops. The idea of such a move, he asserts, would be to force the withdrawal of U. S. troops from the southern zone.

And what would be the idea of forcing the Americans out of the south? Well, the American official doesn't tell us that but may be he figures it is self-evident. The answer most certainly is that the moment the U. S. troops were withdrawn the new Red Korean army would sweep down from the north and try to compel the southerners to unite with the Soviet government of the north.

However, we have a denial in advance for that assertion. Chairman Kim II Sung of the North Korean Peoples committee who made the broadcast previously referred to, also asserted gratuitously that the army wasn't for purposes of "staging internecine civil war as certain reactionaries maliciously publicize."

Maybe the gentleman is correct, but "methinks he doth protest too much."

Soviet methods run in a groove, and we have had plenty of demonstrations in Europe. Russia clearly intends to rule all Korea if she can. The reason is quite clear, as I've pointed out in previous columns.

Korea's geographical position makes it one of the most valuable military bases in the orient, both for defense and offense. It is a "dagger pointed at the heart of Japan"; it lies up against Manchuria, which many observers believe Moscow intends to add to Russia's zone of domination, and it even touches Russian Siberia not far from the big Soviet naval port of Vladivostok.

So there are plenty of reasons why Russia wants Korea—and intends to get it if the trick can be done.

'New Forms of Slavery'

According to the propagandists for Britain's Labor Party, it is perfectly possible to socialize the productive resources of a nation and at the same time preserve the civil liberties of the people. The goal is supposed to be socialization without regimentation.

That engaging theory is strongly disputed in a long article in Life, written by John Dos Passos, the distinguished American novelist and journalist. Mr. Dos Passos, whose articles carries the title,
"The Failure of Marxism," has made a thorough, on-the-ground,
study of conditions in present-day
England. He quotes with approval Bernard Baruch's remark to the effect that socialism may not succeed in distributing wealth but will certainly succeed in distributing poverty. Then he says: "The British will tell you that they are quite free, quite free. But we don't have to believe them. When a man can't change his job without permission from someone sitting at an office desk, when he can't perform any of the normal operations of buying and selling necessary to carrying on a business without a complicated correspondence to secure licenses from the Board of Trade, when he can't appeal to the courts from administrative decisions, when he can be sentenced to jail for refusing to work in the mines, he's no longer a free agent."

He's free because he can vote, he'll tell you. Unfortunately the record of history tends to prove that it's very doubtful whether the vote alone, without economic and personal liberty of action, has ever protected any people against the exercise of arbitrary power.

"A sinister footnote to the loss of concern for individual liberty that seems inevitably to follow the socialization of enterprise appears in the growing toleration of
new forms of slavery."

That last sentence will bear re-reading. England is simply providing what has been proven before—that free enterprise and individual freedom go together and fall together. They cannot be disassociated. Totalitarian economies must inevitably be accompanied by totalitarian sociology.

Capitalism, like anything else which involves human beings, has its faults. But it is the only plan of economic conduct ever devised which guarantees maximum freedom for all the people.

OFFICE Nurse

XXVII
"MERCIFUL heavens!" Miss Willows gasped. The doctor's office, in all her long years of loyal service, had never been held up before.

"Oh! Betty Jane groaned and caught hold of her patient, but it was the young nurse, and not the patient, who crumpled to the floor
in a dead faint."

Dr. Holbrook started to step forward—then stopped. He was not looking at the man who held the pistol; his eyes were focused on Janice.

"Don't anyone move," the man said, as a holdup man should. Only this one did not look at anyone except Janice Hilary. As a matter of fact, everyone in the room, or in the doorways leading to the room, was looking at Janice.

If she was aware of this Janice did not show it. She did not seem the least afraid or thrilled or as though she might feel over. She took a step toward the man with the gun.

"What do you want?" Her voice sounded perfectly natural. She might have been addressing a patient who had just entered the office.

"You know what I want," the man said in a menacing growl,
taking a step toward her.

"But she is no longer with us," Janice said. Her tone now was the reasonable, reassuring one a nurse would use with a patient who had gotten out of hand. "You know that she left some time ago."

MISS WILLOWS thought, Janice is behaving foolishly—and bravely. She also thought that if

As Pegler Sees It

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I feel some difference about continuing my debate with the editors of the Cincinnati Enquirer on the subject of my competence to discuss foreign policy. They brought it up, I answered. They answered back, leaving some unfinished business. If this were only a bout of repartee I would let them have the last word and change the subject. It is more than that, however, so it is not vanity that prompts me to try to round out this discussion. Who has the right to discuss foreign policy? I don't mean the mere constitutional right.
I mean what they mean. Who is qualified to discuss it?

The Enquirer described as "truculent" my reply to the first editorial and even put quotation marks around the word "reply,"
which I take to be a subtle disparagement of my ability in our common profession. I thought I wrote with almost stately restraint that day, but my teachers used to caution me against heavy-handed-ness, and long ago, when I eulogized Knut Rockne, he resigned his job by phone, saying that the rewards of his fame could not assuage the pangs of harsh publicity. As to the little insinuation of the quotation marks, I am not submissive. I will match compositions and commendations with the author of this editorial and, to open the betting, will toss in one blue, from Henry Seidel Canby,
of the Saturday Review of Literature.

I would value this one as a white chip myself, but these are inflationary days and I didn't set the value. It is true that the position of cosmic columnist does not necessarily denote literary grace, but neither does it suggest the contrary. The same is true, however, of the position of editorial writer
for the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The courtesies thus disposed of,
I turn to the Enquirer's attempt to expunge a damned spot. The Enquirer would have left foreign policy to the men of both parties who have made a prayerful study of this terribly intricate business.

Who, for instance, I asked And I named, for a few, Joe Davies,
William E. Dodd, Harry Hopkins,
George Marshall and Senator Vandenberg.

Could my foreign policy possibly be worse than theirs? All except Dodd were in a position to know, and probably did know, most of the terrible facts of the Stalin-Hitler alliance for aggressive and utterly predatory war, and yet, all of them, as long as life has lasted, except Marshall, concealed those facts from the American people to this day.

Marshall finally made them
known only as an attempt to justify another foray, inevitably to become a war, into European politics, which is the best he could evolve after all his prayerful study. It was not out of consideration for the right of the American people who earn the taxes to finance his "plan" that Marshall made this belated revelation. As far as those rights were concerned,
these facts might have remained secret forever.

He revealed them to make us
mad at the Russians and to scare us so that we would not a trembling consent to his "plan" to implicate us in every border brush along that vast, mysterious Russian line, and to enslave us to those many peoples. For it is slavery to work without pay for countries and breeds abroad. Yet we have been gassed and gulled so long with propaganda and the mechanized walls of political profiteers in misery that millions of us, and many editors, simply cannot think of the Americans as a free people.

It is a lost concept. Some fanatic college students are even crying out Henry Wallace as a liberal, although he will surely get them killed if they follow him to the dictatorship which he so admires in Russia. Or make butchers of them. I remember when in my teens, I was just an American.
But a little American boy I know
may, one day, be asked to die for Palestine.

Read the speeches.
The Enquirer says that, in mentioning Davies, Dodd and Hopkins, I "diagnosed in several straw men." I am glad that I am not stuck with such a feeble argument, for it is impossible to discuss this country's course toward the latest war and our relations with Stalin,
after Pearl Harbor, without giving serious weight to the official conduct, the predictions and the character of these men. I notice that "fidelity to the trust we assume" is a solemn pledge of the Enquirer on its masthead. I take it, therefore, that the Enquirer
demands "fidelity" as a basic trait in public men. So do I, in all affairs, personal as well as professional and political.

Editors and some other journalists have an advantage of the general public in imponderable information about public men and I am sure the editors of the Enquirer
are not in the dark.

A president, selecting an ambassador, will have in mind personal qualities and unofficial considerations which he will not present to the senate, because they are too sensitive for discussion. The senate may rely on equally delicate reasons for rejecting him, and forbear to state them.

Do the sensitive qualities of those three commend them to the responsibilities that Roosevelt game them? (Continued tomorrow).

48 Generations of Hybrid Seed Corn Build Big Business

Illinois Produces Three and Half Million Bushels of It Annually

Urbana, Ill., Feb. 18—(AP)— Forty-eight generations of hybrid seed corn have built the business to $35,000,000 a year in Illinois,
a plant geneticist at the University of Illinois said today.

R. W. Jugenheimer, the college of agriculture, plant researcher, noted the state produces about 3,500,000 bushels of hybrid seed corn a year but added "it is no accident."

The university tests hundreds of hybrid seed varieties every year.
Among other reasons for the state's leadership in this business,
he said, are excellent land, fine
climate, superior hybrid combinations, desirable production practices, modern processing facilities,
and conscientious producers.

Selection of corn for high and low protein and high and low oil
has been continued since 1896, Jugenheimer said, with the 1947
crop representing the 48th generation of hybrid crossing.

The protein in the high-protein strain ranges from 18 to 20 per cent, while in the low protein strain it ranges from six to eight per cent, he noted. The high-oil strain ranges from 12 to 14 per cent compared with 1.25 to 1.5 per cent for the low-oil strain.

In Striking Advance
"Development of hybrid corn for commercial planting is perhaps the most striking advance in the long history of corn," said Jugenheimer.

"Corn yields in Illinois during the last 10 years, when hybrids have been grown exclusively, averaged 15 bushels an acre more than during the previous 70 years, when open-pollinated varieties were grown."

Illinois grows about 9,000,000 acres of corn each year, so the 15-bushel increase amounts to 135-000,000 extra bushels a year because of hybrids, he added.

In the United States hybrid corn acreage increased from 143-
000 acres in 1933 to nearly 62-000,000 in 1947. The entire hybrid corn research program for the country cost about $10,000,000 but in 1946 alone the crop paid the American farmer $750,000,000,
Jugenheimer declared.

Must Choose Carefully
However, not every hybrid corn is suitable for any particular soil and growers have been cautioned
to choose their seed carefully.

J. F. Rundquist, of the college's agronomy department, said the university agricultural experiment station tested 295 corn hybrids last year.

An average yield of 73 bushels an acre on the Galesburg field in west north-central Illinois (Knox county) was the highest in the state, Rundquist noted.

No other test fields results were 71.1 bushels average yield per acre at Sheldon in the east north-central section (Troy county) 63.8 at Sullivan in the south central part (Moultrie), 48.5 at Alhambra in the southern area (Madison) 42.3 at Woodstock in the northern section (McHenry), and 41.7 on bottomland and 34 on upland at Dixon Springs in the extreme southern (Pope) part of the state.

Rundquist said three-year summaries of the tests showed the waist. "Of course she's hurt!" she snapped—Miss Willows who had never snapped at Dr. Holbrook, her idol, before. "Do something.

Don't just stand there."

She turned on Miss Susie Fox and Mrs. Smythe-Smith. "One of you ladies get some cold water and throw it in Betty Jane's face. We'll need her help, too. A fine time for a nurse to faint."

A fine time, she might have added, for a doctor to give in to his personal feelings. For Dr. Holbrook still behaved like a man in a stupor. He raised one hand to show Miss Willows—or anyone who cared to look—that it was trembling like the motor of an old model T Ford.

"I—your'd better send for Dr.
Richards," he said, his voice trembling, too. He sank down in the chair Miss Willows had vacated and covered his face with his hands.

Meanwhile, Miss Susie Fox had come back with the water. Miss Willows took it from her, and instead of tossing it in Betty Jane's face—Betty Jane had opened her eyes and was struggling to sit up
—she threw it on the doctor.

Afterwards, Miss Willows could not believe that she had done
such a thing. To Dr. Holbrook himself! But then afterwards, the doctor could not believe that he had lost control of his nerves
for a few minutes.

Betty Jane could not believe that she had fainted, and the only explanation she could give was that she had not slept the night before.

But perhaps the most unbelieving of them all was Janice herself when she woke up on the day she was supposed to have flown to Mexico to find herself in a hospital.

The unforeseen, as Miss Willows had foreseen, had indeed
come to pass.

CRATER THEORY

A new theory regarding the moon's craters suggests that they may not be the result of meteors

like coral atolls have formed in tropical seas here on earth.

Both Argentina and Chile have laid claims in the area, which includes such groups as the South Georgia, the South Orkneys and the South Shetlands. In London a high British government source said the three-nation dispute may be turned over to the United Nations, although British would prefer to see the matter settled privately. A government official discounted speculation that the dispute might lead to a break in relations among the three nations. He added, however, that Britain has no intention of abandoning a "perfectly good" claim.

the department heads during the discussion, with an explanation of their probable needs during the year. Only one, the department of public affairs, has indicated it can operate on less funds in 1948. Requesting a cut from 1947's $49,930 appropriation to $44,610, Hoffman said salary costs for the city attorney and other employees were fixed more than in other departments.

The requests of the other department heads was as follows: FINANCE—Commissioner George Campbell asked for an appropriation of $15,000, a boost of $1,000 over last year. Contemplated salary hikes, higher insurance rates, the probable addition of a part-time stenographer for the mayor's office and City Clerk Wayne Smith's office were listed as factors.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND SAFETY—Commissioner Forrest Shaffer asked for $61,000. His department got $58,000 in 1947. Needed repairs for the old fire truck, needed new equipment and adequate salaries for policemen and firemen are important items.

STREETS AND ALLEYS—Commissioner Joe E. Valle requested $50,000. The department appropriation for 1947 was $35,000. Need of replacement for obsolete equipment, possible purchase of a motor grader and truck and street repair work were listed as major items.

PUBLIC PROPERTY—Commissioner George Lindquist requested $33,000. His department drew an appropriation of $24,000 in 1947. The need for repairs to many city buildings, including City Hall, was cited as a major item.

Lindquist called for a revision of the city's agreement to provide sewage disposal service for Swissville from $600 to $2,500 annually. The contract, which he said was dated Jan. 19, 1945, contained no provision for the increased load there, he said, declaring he felt $2,500 would not be unreasonable. The matter will get further council consideration this week.

Discussion Changes—The discussion on license fees brought these suggested changes from council members: That cab licenses, now $10 for the first cab, $5 for the second and $2.50 each thereafter, be hiked to $25 and $10. Lindquist earlier had suggested a high license for cabs parking on the streets and a smaller one for those using private property.

A probable hike in junk dealer licenses from the present $10 to $150 was forecast after all council members urged a substantial boost in the rate.

Boosts in liquor and club licenses to $750 and $200, respectively, also were suggested. Liquor licenses (there are 20 in the city) now are $500 and club licenses (there are three) are now $75.

Valle suggested that billiards and pool licenses might be doubled and the number of licenses limited to not more than two. The present rate is $5 for the first table and $2.50 for each additional one. Similar action was suggested on bowling alleys, where the rates are the same on alleys.

Petition Received—The council also received a petition presented by the Rev. B. B. Cartwright, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, on behalf of the Protestant churches of Dixon, which asked that all forms of gambling be prohibited by law here, that transfer of liquor licenses be prohibited and that penalties be provided for such violations.

Rev. Cartwright, in presenting the petition, complimented the council on its civic achievements.

The group was told by Hoffman that the city has such laws in effect, that the present $100 gambling fine may be raised to $300, the maximum, and that he felt gambling in Dixon was of a minor nature now.

Garden Dept. Hears Harold Cook

The Garden Department of the Dixon Woman's club met at the Loveland House Monday afternoon at 2:30.

The chairman, Mrs. J. R. McDaniel, presented Harold Cook who demonstrated the art of making corsages and told a few do's and don'ts when it comes to the wearing of corsages. Mr. Cook said the florist should always be notified as to what type of woman is to receive the flowers.

Another important fact brought out was that corsages should complement the costume and the person, and should blend in with the gown. Small corsages are for street dress while larger ones are to be worn with formals.

The speaker pointed out the fact that some women can wear orchids while other types are more suited to sweet peas.

When a corsage is worn on the shoulder it should be placed high with the stems down. Corsages can be worn at the waist, wrist, or fastened to a purse. A corsage for a formal dress with sequins should contain the same color sequins in the ribbon used. Mr. Cook stated that carnations, gladioli and iris corsages are long living while sweet peas and daisies are good for only a short time.

Mrs. Mary Brown told of a recent trip to the home of her son in Brownsville, Tex., and of places of interest visited while en route. Among many things seen, Mrs. Brown visited Naughton Gardens salesroom at Waxahachie, Tex. Naughton is rated as the South's largest nursery and lists many plants for this section of the country. Mrs. Brown also visited Old Mexico and the Gulf of Mexico. Moving pictures taken by Mrs. Brown were also shown.

The Garden Department decided to hold a spring flower show during the early part of June. It was also decided to charter a bus and attend the flower shows in Chicago. They will attend the Horticulture show held in the Coliseum on Tuesday, March 16. The date for attending the Garden Club of Ill. flower show in Chicago will be announced later.

Bus tickets may be purchased from Mrs. J. E. Harrison or Mrs. George Papadakis.

Phidian Art Club Hears Talk by Mrs. E. M. Goodsell

The Phidian Art club met on Tuesday Feb. 17, at the home of Mrs. G. D. Bort.

Mrs. E. M. Goodsell was the speaker of the afternoon, her subject being "The Story of Vermont Marble." Last August she and her husband visited Proctor, Vt., the marble center of the state, and enjoyed the exhibits to be seen. Even the bridges in the above mentioned town are of marble—a most beautiful structure. Near here the speaker visited her birthplace, Pittsford, Vt. At the Proctor exhibit of the Vermont marble company she noted two striking features, one representing a garden, the other a chapel, both of outstanding beauty.

Mrs. Goodsell told graphically of the process of marble cutting. She said that the company produced more than fifty varieties of marble.

The marble cutter of today uses the pneumatic tools, but still makes use of the hammer and mallet. One of the most beautiful monuments made of Vermont marble, is the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery, Washington. The Thomas Jefferson memorial is also one and this is located on the tidal Basin at Washington.

The discovery of the vast marble field of Vermont was made by our colonial ancestors and modern man has vastly improved the finishing process.

DIXON TRAVEL CLUB

Mrs. Pius Burgard entertained members of the Dixon Travel club at her home last evening, with the Misses Gladys and Ethel Jamison as co-hostesses.

Miss Ruth Dysart was a guest at the meeting and showed Kodachrome pictures which she had taken on trips through the eastern part of the United States. Views of New York City, historic Jamestown and Williamsburg, the Allegheny mountains, the October Mum Show at Columbus, O., and some local scenes were shown by Miss Dysart. Also included was a series of sunset pictures and some very unique cloud formations.

During the business session, which was in charge of Miss Burdick Burkard, vice-president, it was announced that the next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Alice Sheller on March 16.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses prior to adjournment.

V. Brooklyn Undeclared in 9 Games

By BOB FALLSTROM
West Brooklyn, Feb. 18—West Brooklyn's hoop unit hopes to overcome Mendota's third string effort and end its regular season undefeated.
Coached by Principal G. K. Poyser, who came here from Three Rivers, Mich., the team has racked nine consecutive wins over high school fives, bowing only to an annual outfit in a practice game. The school has a slim enrollment of 10 pupils, nine of whom are in basketball activities of one sort or another. Six boys comprise the squad with a girl nager and two girls as cheerleaders. The tenth student—a girl—did not attempt to make the team.
Capt. Paul Ege and Robert Sheridan, Poyser's only two experienced players, usually head the scoring. West Brooklyn takes on Compton, a two-time loser to Poyser's team, in the Franklin Grove district meet next week.

Lake May Solve Joliet Water Problem, Feel

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 18—(AP)—Piping water from Lake Michigan offers a possible answer to the ground water scarcity in the Joliet area, a state agency studying the problem has decided.

The Illinois water resources and flood control board believes an aqueduct could be laid along the Illinois and Michigan canal without upsetting plans for a super-highway on the canal right of way.

Cost of the suggested pipe line, which would service municipal, industrial and federal government needs, was put at $30,000,000.

The board expressed its views in a statement yesterday after considering reports by State Rep. Warren L. Wood of Plainfield, the state water survey division and a Kansas City engineering firm.

The agency said it would continue its studies and expected to talk over the matter with federal authorities in an attempt to reach a joint solution of the problem.

After searching his room, the robbers threatened Fiorino's daughter, Mrs. Ann Noble, with death unless she told them where "the tin box with your father's money is."

Mrs. Noble said she led the robbers to the hiding place and that they snatched the box and fled without examining its contents.

Allen Jenkins Denies Charge of Intoxication

Los Angeles, Feb. 18—(AP)—Movie comic Allen Jenkins denies he was intoxicated the night he was arrested and charged with drunken driving.

Jenkins, 47, testified yesterday that he had taken "just four bourbons in a period of several hours" and was "sober enough to drive."

Police Officer Lester Jones told a municipal court jury that at the time Jenkins was booked last Jan. 26, the actor insisted that his pet cat, Smiley, be fingerprinted first.

"I did it to humor him," Jones testified.

The jury probably will get the case today.

Operation To Remove Nail From Head of Ex-GI Is Successful

Denver, Feb. 18—(AP)—Virgil Gomez, who underwent a delicate operation to remove a nail from his head last September, is now cured, the Veterans Administration hospital reported today.

The nail had been an unwelcome souvenir for Gomez of his capture by the Japanese on Bataan. As he lay unconscious, he said, a Jap soldier hammered the nail into his skull.

Only Chevrolet Is First!

Men and women everywhere agree: Only one is No. 1—only Chevrolet is first—in all-round value as in popularity. Consequently, more people drive Chevrolets than any other make, according to official nationwide registrations; and more people want Chevrolets than any other make, according to seven independent nationwide surveys. Here, in the new 1948 Chevrolet, is record value. For new and even more luxurious styling, colors and appointments have been added to all of Chevrolet's other advantages of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

Meet the new standard of Big-Car beauty! It's here, in Chevrolet's Bodies by Fisher—finest bodies made—available only on Chevrolet and higher-priced cars.

You'll enjoy Big-Car performance, too, when you own a Chevrolet; for it brings you Valve-in-Head engine performance, found elsewhere only in more expensive cars.

You'll find Chevrolet rides more smoothly on all types of roads due to the famous Knee-Action Ride; and, of course, Knee-Action is found only on Chevrolet and costlier cars.

Keep your present car in good running condition by bringing it to us for skilled service, now and at regular intervals, pending delivery of your new Chevrolet.
